About Floralsupply.com

We know the floral industry and how its products apply to the retail floral shops,floral designers, crafters and do-it-yourself floral supply users!

Over 40 years ago, we started out as a division of a large, national floral supply Rep / Distribution Company serving the six Rocky Mountain States. From that strong business base, in 1990 - at the very dawn of the internet as a business marketing tool - we chose the name Floralsupply.Com and began out internet marketing operation. The rest is History. We are now one of the largest wholesale distributors of floral-related supplies on the entire internet, with several strategically-located distribution points across the Country.

Our Thirty-Five Plus years in the floral business has provided us with the experience needed to anticipate the market and have what you need. We are constantly on the lookout for new, exciting products and product trends. We represent many of the finest and largest makers and importers in the industry. We also "Partner" with many other types of Floral-related organizations which support the Retail Florist Exclusively. IF you need it, we can probably tell you how and where you can obtain it.
